DICTIONARY OF INTERNATIONAL BIOGRAPHY

(Established 1963)

A BIOGRAPHICAL RECORD OF CONTEMPORARY ACHIEVEMENT

Volume XIX

Publication: Autumn 1984

You are invited to complete the questionnaire overleaf in order that we may include your biography in Volume Nineteen of this distinguished work, following nomination by our researchers.

The DICTIONARY OF INTERNATIONAL BIOGRAPHY was founded by Dr. Geoffrey Handley-Taylor who published 4,800 biographies from twelve countries in the First Edition in 1963. Since then the DICTIONARY has honoured with inclusion more than 155,000 people from 162 countries. The DICTIONARY has been published for many years by the International Biographical Centre (IBC) of Cambridge, England, a biographical research organization which also publishes Who's Who in Western Europe, Who's Who in the Commonwealth and other international and professional Who's Whos which date back for nearly half a century.

The IBC is pleased to announce that Ernest Kay, D.Litt., who has been associated with the DICTIONARY OF INTERNATIONAL BIOGRAPHY since its origination, has agreed to edit the Nineteenth Volume (his fifteenth). Dr. Kay is a Life Fellow of the Accademia Filologia Classica (Milan); Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society (London); recipient of the Keys to the Cities of New York, New Orleans, Los Angeles; and the author of major biographical and other books.

A new edition of the DICTIONARY OF INTERNATIONAL BIOGRAPHY is always something special. Volume Nineteen will be published again in a detailed and easily-understood format, and only clearly recognizable abbreviations (for example m. for married, s. for son, etc) will be used. The exclusive coding, which indicates other Who's Whos in which an entrant is listed, will be retained; this has appeared ever since the first volume. Publication of Volume Nineteen is scheduled for the Autumn of 1984.

The DICTIONARY OF INTERNATIONAL BIOGRAPHY enjoys a world-wide circulation among libraries and individuals and is consulted regularly not only by academics and businessmen but also by the compilers of other biographical reference works in the English speaking world and elsewhere. Editions are housed in national, state, institutional, newspaper and public libraries including the Royal Library, Windsor Castle, the British Library, and the Library of Congress.

It cannot be emphasized too strongly that entry is by invitation only and cannot be "bought": there is no charge or fee for inclusion nor is there any obligation to purchase. Should you wish, however, you are entitled (as an included biographee) to purchase copies at very advantageous pre-publication prices which are detailed on the back page.

We thank you for your assistance and hope we may include your biography in this edition.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

The International Biographical Centre (IBC) of Cambridge, England, is long-established and highly-regarded having published 22 Who's Who titles in 86 editions: some titles date back for nearly half a century.

In this age of opportunism and imitation the IBC prides itself on
